"I am thrilled to join the combined company's Board alongside other acclaimed members within the life sciences community," said Mr. Pearson. "Korro's unique RNA editing approach has the potential to change the course of disease for patients by modulating biology in an unprecedented manner. "I am excited to announce Todd's promotion to Chief Operating Officer. Since joining Korro Bio in 2021, Todd has been instrumental in helping us advance our goal of developing a portfolio of unique and differentiated RNA editing product candidates," said Dr. Aiyar.

"The ability to modulate the effects of human proteins by editing RNA provides us the ability to target disease in a unique way, starting with our lead program in Alpha-1 Antitrypsin Deficiency (AATD)," said Mr. Chappell. "I am honored to support Korro in my new role and look forward to helping our team bring multiple programs into the clinic and beyond."

Dr. Aiyar continued, "The appointment of Tim to our future Board, in conjunction with Todd's promotion, comes at a critical inflection point in our growth as we anticipate the nomination of our first development candidate in AATD later this year. Their combined insights and capabilities will be invaluable as we transition to being a public company."
